"I HAD BETTER STAB YOU TO DEATH"

DRAMATIC EVIDENCE GIVEN AT INQUEST

MAGISTRACY AGAIN THROGGED BY CROWDS CORONER CLEARS COURT

"HE SAID 'I LOVE YOU SO MUCH AND YET YOU DON'T SEEM TO LOVE ME.' ... AFTER HE STABBED ME ONCE HE CONTINUED SAYING 'I HAD BETTER STAB YOU TO DEATH IN ORDER THAT NO ONE ELSE CAN BENEFIT BY YOU.'"

These dramatic statements were made by a woman, Cheung Yee Lau, in the course of her evidence given before the Coroner, Mr. W. Schofield at the Central Magistracy yesterday afternoon, when the inquiry was resumed into the death of Ng Yuk Tong, scion of a well-known local Chinese family, who was found dead with stab wounds in a room in Cheung Yee Lau's house, No. 38, Kennedy Road, on July 19.

The amazing scenes that accompanied the opening of the inquest on Thursday were repeated yesterday. The crowds turned up in larger numbers but were deprived of hearing the greater part of Cheung Yee Lau's evidence, which was given in camera after the Coroner had ordered the Court to be cleared.

Mr. W. A. Mackinlay appeared on behalf of the deceased's family while Mr. M. K. Lo watched the proceedings on behalf of Cheung Yee Lau. Mr. T. Murphy, A.D.C.I., assisted by Sub-Inspector J. O'Donovan, were present for the Police.

The jury consisted of Messrs. P. A. Mackintosh (foreman), D. D. A. Alonco and J. V. Gomes.

Cheung Yee Lau, amah, was recalled and in answer to questions by Mr. Mackinlay said that when the deceased visited the house he was dressed in European style. It was five minutes after leaving him in the room that she heard something break. It was about ten minutes later that she heard the screams.

Witness further stated that when the deceased arrived he seemed in a hurry. That was the first time she had seen him in her mistress's room alone.

Lau Kau, a gardener, was also recalled, and said that he was washing the rear gutter when the amah called out to him. When he first saw the deceased, he was holding the knife by the blade.

PRINCIPAL WITNESS

A stir was caused among the spectators when the principal witness, Cheung Yee Lau, entered the box.

Witness stated that she had lived in the Colony for seven years and had three children. She first met the deceased about May last year at his father's house, No. 1 Ming Yuen Terrace. She had known the father for a long time. She knew the deceased by the name "se-gwor"—fourth elder brother. He had another name but that she did not know.

Witness admitted the ownership of a car which was frequently used by the deceased. The car was kept at her friend's garage in Robinson Road. Later, at deceased's request the car was kept at his garage. The car had four keys, two for ignition and two for opening the doors. Witness and deceased both had a pair.

Her meetings with deceased were mostly towards the end of the year when she visited his house almost daily. This was about the time of the betrothal of Mr. Ng Wai's third son. She often met deceased thereafter and he was in the habit of joking both with his family and herself.

At this stage the Court was cleared.

NO PARTICULAR RELATIONSHIP

"There was no particular relationship between the deceased and I," went on the witness. "He had first mentioned love on the morning that he visited me and died."

Coming to the day of the tragedy, witness said that she was aroused at 7 a.m. by her amah, who had brought her her usual cup of salt water. "I then fell asleep again," said witness, "until the deceased aroused me by calling out loudly asking if I was going to swim. I said 'I am not—don't you know that we came home late last night? I am very tired from swimming.' He was then sitting in a chair. He had his back against the table and was facing me. I saw him get up and turn to go and I immediately fell asleep again. I did not know whether he had gone or not."

"I HAD BETTER STAB YOU"
"Shortly after I had gone to sleep, I thought I heard the deceased calling out to me again. I turned to face the chair in which he had been sitting and I saw him standing there. Then he stabbed me with a knife which he held in his hand. He said 'Gow Neung I love you so much and yet you don't seem to love me.' And directly after these words he stabbed me. After he stabbed me once he continued saying 'I had better stab you to death in order that no one else can benefit by you.'"

"MEN OF DESTINY"

MILLIONS OF THEM

HOW JAPAN STRIKES TOURISTS

It is the fashion these days of easy phraseology to refer to certain outstanding people in a community as "men of destiny." Usually they are politicians who have done well for themselves through their expedient loyalty to one of many political parties. Their transient success is the condition precedent to their being favoured with the laudatory phrase—"men of destiny."

Before the "Taping" added yesterday for McBurnie, a representative of the "Hong Kong Daily Press" spoke with many seasoned travellers who had just returned from Japan by the "Empress of Canada" and, without any exception the impressions which Japan and its people left on their minds can be epitomised in these words:—NATIONAL AND INDUSTRIAL EFFICIENCY.

RAILWAY PLAN

Minister's Statement

REPAYING BRITISH LOANS

Canton, Sept. 11.

Mr. Chang Chia-ngau, Minister of Railways, who arrived here yesterday on his inspection tour, told the "Da-Dao" representative that his present visit to the south had nothing to do with the question of building a loop line between the Canton-Hankow railway and the Canton-Kowloon railway as had been persistently rumoured.

The Ministry, he declared, had neither considered the project, nor carried on any form of negotiation on the matter with the British authorities concerned. Mr. Chang reiterated that what he intended to do on leaving the capital was to inspect the Canton-Hankow line which had just been completed, and to inspect the development of Whampoa. In time the Canton-Hankow line would be extended to this new port, he explained, which the Central Government was in earnest in its intention to develop into a modern port for South China.

This new line will, however, go across the Canton-Kowloon Railway line, but in order to avoid it being a loop line to these two principal lines, a bridge over the Canton-Kowloon line will be built at the junction.

It is learned from reliable source that during his stay in Canton, Mr. Chang will deal with the problem of repayment of the British loans which were raised for the construction of the Canton-Kowloon line, the repayment of which had been suspended for several years.

GIANT CRANE

Erection At Kowloon Docks

Weight Of 100 Tons

Messrs. Gammon (Malaya) Ltd., of Singapore and Hong Kong have just secured the contract for building the Reinforced Concrete Substructure for a 100 ton Giant Crane to be erected at Kowloon Docks.

The Reinforced Concrete Substructure consists essentially of four columns eight feet in diameter braced at the head by a heavy decking and with anchor beams to the shore. These Columns are carried down to the dredged sea bed 43 feet below sea level and are to be supported on four independent footings 24 feet square with 36" Vibro piles in each, going down to rock level.

Messrs. Vibro Piling Co., Ltd. Hong Kong, have recently completed successfully all the Vibro Piling work. It is interesting to note that this is perhaps the first time that Vibro Piles have been driven completely under water.

"Soak The Rich"

Manila's "New Deal"

Manila, Sept. 11.

Drastic revision of the income tax laws in the Philippines along "Soak-the-Rich" lines is contemplated in a Bill which passed the National Assembly second reading last night.

The chief features of the Bill are:—

Firstly: Exemptions for married people to be reduced from 6,000 to 4,000 pesos, and for the unmarried from 4,000 to 2,000 pesos.

Secondly: The personal tax rate remains at three per cent.

Thirdly: A sliding scale surtax on personal incomes exceeding 10,000 pesos of one per cent, and up to 35 per cent on incomes exceeding 2,200,000 pesos against the present rate of half per cent on incomes over 10,000 pesos, and up to 20 per cent on incomes over 5,000,000 pesos.

Fourthly: The corporation income tax to be raised from three to six per cent.

Fifthly: A new tax of 25 per cent on accumulated corporate profits in excess of 15 per cent on capital stock with the exception of banks and insurance concerns.

The measure becomes effective as soon as it is enacted. It is expected to provide the Government with an additional revenue of 4,000,000 pesos annually.

After the third reading, the bill will go to the President for signature.

ATTEMPTED ARMED ROBBERY

Revolver: Dagger: Knife

CHINESE WOMAN ARRESTED

"IF YOU MOVE OR MAKE A NOISE—I'LL SHOOT!"

These words were uttered by one of three armed robbers who entered the servants' quarters of the home of Mrs. Barretto, 2 Granville Road, Kowloon, about 10.45 p.m. yesterday.

The threat and an automatic revolver were both directed at Leung San, a widow, who is an amah in the employ of Mrs. Barretto. In a flash the amah took to the situation, which, to say the least, was somewhat disconcerting. In addition to the robber with a revolver, there was another who brandished a dagger and the third desperado flourished an ugly looking knife.

THE MILWAUKEE ROAD

ENGINEERING AND BUILDING

Interesting Chapter In History Of Paper Making

CHARLES DICKENS FIRST
EDITOR OF "DAILY CHRONICLE"
Material Used In Early Days

The mechanical drive was first introduced into the paper-making industry in 1799, when Louis Robert, in France, invented a machine for turning out sheets as a substitute for the manual methods which had been in use since times immemorial. He was soon followed by an Englishman, John Gamble, who, with the assistance of Bryan Donkin, devised a method of making paper in continuous lengths or webs.

This very great improvement necessitated the use of presses, so that the water could be rapidly removed from the sheet. A machine of Donkin's, which was built in 1808, was fitted with two such presses. Further improvements were introduced by Fourdrinier, a large number of machines of whose design were installed both in this country and in the United States.
In fact, by the middle of the nineteenth century, over 400 machines were at work in the British Isles alone. This development was due partly to the removal of the newspaper tax, partly to the growth of the general spread of education and factors of a more commercial character. At the present time there are over 500 paper machines at work in this country, though their output is, of course, much larger than that of their forerunners. The largest machine at work is installed in the Kemsley Mill of Messrs. Edward Lloyd, Limited, Salisbury-court, Fleet-street, London, E.C.4.

FOUNDED IN 1840

It will not be out of place to relate the development of newsprint manufacture to the history of Lloyd's itself, as this firm has played a considerable part in the progress that has been made. In 1840, Edward Lloyd founded
"Lloyd News" and later purchased a small newspaper, known as the "Clerkenwell News," which was afterwards converted into the "Daily Chronicle" with Charles Dickens as its first editor. To ensure an adequate supply of newsprint for these two journals, Mr.
Lloyd erected a mill at Bow, in East London, and for a time produced all the paper he required on one machine. The raw material of manufacture, which in those days was wheat and oat straw, was mainly obtained from farmers in Kent, and was stored at Sitting-bourne in a building which still exists. This straw was converted into straw pulp at Sittingbourne to facilitate its transport and was then water borne via Milton Creek, the Swale and the Thames, to the mill at Bow.

This being the organisation, it was only natural, when the time came, as it soon did, that a larger mill was required, that the claims of the area from which the raw material was drawn should be carefully considered. As a result, it was found that Sittingbourne offered many advantages as a mill site, for in addition to easy communications and the presence of raw materials, there was a heavy underlying strata of chalk between 700 ft. and 800 ft. thick, and a copious supply of fresh water.
About 1875, therefore, the paper-making section of the business was transferred to a new mill at Sit-tingbourne, and this mill was equipped both with a new machine, and with the original unit which was brought from Bow. Since that time the paper-making activities of the firm have been concentrated in the Sittingbourne area.

SUPPLY PROBLEM

The next problem that arose in the firm's history was how to ensure an adequate supply of raw material, since it was clear that the supplies of local straw would soon be no longer sufficient to meet demands, especially as two tons of it were required to produce one ton of paper. Successful attempts were therefore made to produce the necessary pulp from trees and it is of course, this material which now practically entirely provides the raw material for the ever-growing quantities of newspaper consumed. The wood used for this purpose is spruce (Picea Excelsa), and is obtained from forests all over the world, though the greatest part comes from countries where the winter temperatures are low. The trees are felled in the winter season when the sap is low and are cut into logs which are floated down the rivers in the spring. The logs are thence exported either in that form or as pulp. Before pulping, however, the wood is usually stored for about 12 months. Considerable storage accommodation is therefore necessary, especially as the logs can only be shipped when the northern ports are free from ice.

The next development of importance at the Sittingbourne mills was the attempt made by Mr.
Lloyd to cheapen production by increasing both the width and the speed of the machines. This policy, which gave rise to considerable criticism at the time, actually proved to be entirely successful.

These increases were accompanied by continuous re-modelling and mechanical improvements. To begin with, of course, the machines were driven by reciprocating engines, but recently there has been a change-over to the electric drive, the energy for the motors being obtained from both condensing and pass-out turbines. This arrangement has economic advantages, since the demands for power and process steam, generally speaking, balance. At the present time the equipment of the Sittingbourne mill comprises 16 machines with an aggregate output of 450 tons a day.

WATER RESOURCES AND SUPPLIES

Variation Of Conditions

The most interesting feature of the Report of the Joint Committee on Water Resources and Supplies, which was published recently, is the manner in which it runs counter to the proposals laid down by the Ministry of Health. The proposals considered in this report fall under the headings of Procedure for Obtaining Powers, and Compensation Water, and the criticisms of the Joint Committee should prove a healthy check to the somewhat bureaucratic methods which have characterised the Ministry of Health's handling of this important subject.

It will be remembered that during the years of drought the demand arose for a consideration of the whole question of water supplies and resources on broad lines, and from various influential quarters it was suggested that a National Board should be brought into being to deal with it. The attitude, however, of the Ministry was rather to keep the matter in its own hands, with the advice of selected representatives of the water supply services. It was pointed out by many people that this was not a satisfactory arrangement, and would tend to a lack of breadth of outlook, and this is now confirmed by the report under notice.
Here it is stated that the majority of the witnesses who were examined were opposed to the Ministry of Health obtaining sole power to make Orders, as proposed.

It was complained that the Ministry, being mainly concerned with health, had not given adequate consideration to the needs of industry, agriculture, or fisheries, and was not capable of fully appreciating them. The view of the Ministry of Agriculture and Fisheries was similar and it is interesting to note that the report considers the criticism justified in no small degree, and that the Ministry of Health has largely brought these upon itself by failing to consult other interests than its own and those of the water supply undertakers, no other representatives being on the Ministry's Advisory Committee.

NO LEGISLATION

The present Committee do not recommend any type of legislation by Order and consider that on the whole the best procedure in the matter of water supplies is by Private Bill. Although to many this appears to be far from an ideal system, it will most probably prove preferable to any system placing the final word with a Ministry.
Failing an independent and broad-minded board, a great many would undoubtedly prefer the chance which a Bill gives for reasonable discussion, although this procedure is not without its risks.

The Joint Committee, with its preference for Private Bill procedure, naturally does not propose the institution of a Control Board.
On the other hand, it considers a statutory Central Advisory Board essential. Here again the proposals are not favourable to those of the Ministry of Health, for this Central Board it is suggested should embody representatives of the other Ministries affected, of Catchment and Fisheries Boards, water undertakers and interested industrial and riparian parties. It is suggested that the Regional Advisory Councils, now consisting merely of Ministry of Health and water undertaking representatives, should be re-formed and representatives of other interests added, and that they should report to the proposed Central Board, instead of at present to the Ministry of Health. As we have stated above, falling the central authority, arrangements of this kind may be expected to find much greater favour than the proposals of the Ministry of Health, since they would obviate the risk of a bureaucratic action for which this country has so well developed an aversion.

IMPRATICABLE

Again, on the subject of Compensation Water, the present report rejects the proposals of the Ministry of Health, which, it states, examination has shown to be impracticable, owing to the wide variation of conditions. The Ministry proposed calculating compensation water by means of a formula which the Committee argues does not operate satisfactorily, and which itself includes an unscientific and arbitrary "user factor," which would be so difficult to assess as to render any result of the calculations of very little value. It is considered that each river should be considered on its merits, and the possibilities of the future not ignored, as would happen with calculation by formula.

I am very fastidious about
my Talcum Powder

After the bath following vigorous exercise we all need a powder that is absolutely smooth and silky. That's why I use Cuticura Talcum. It is the most exquisitely fine powder I've ever used. And the perfume is a wonderful blend —both fragrant and wholesome—it smells so clean and sweet.

The reason why Cuticura Talcum is used by women who are extra particular about their toilet powder is that it has a fineness and purity which is unexcelled.

Cuticura is scientifically prepared by a special process—it has the same guaranteed quality of excellence which has made Cuticura Soap famous all over the world.
If the skin is overheated and chafed, Cuticura Talcum soothes it at once. Its cool 'satin' softness is like a balm. Use it after bathing—before dancing or strenuous exercise. It absorbs perspiration—you stay sweet, dainty and fresh for hours.

Sold by all Chemists and Stores.

CABLES "SWENONIS"

A PAGE FOR THE CHURCHES

CONCERNING "THE YOUNGER SET"

Constructive Criticism

By
"SCRUTATOR"

Hong Kong's "younger-set" is very much like any other — to all appearances a careless mob, in the majority of instances without culture and utterly devoid even of religious pretensions.

Bodies without souls and almost without minds; easily satisfied with Ethe. Mahin, Ginger Rogers, and the "Gipsies"; their only lodestar, a pitiable self-interest which is largely physical — there are grounds for these opinions! What can be done about them? And the answer is nothing! The most painful and importunate pulpit jeremiads would never affect them for they are never near enough the colonial pupils to hear; a procession of the clergy in sack-cloth and ashes would only raise a mild laugh from them.

They are either utterly hopeless and beyond salvation, or they are not so bad as they seem.

THE NEW WORLD

Christian people and others, who are much perplexed by the religious indifference and the general spirit of laissez-faire which characterises the "younger-set", would do well to realise that we are living in a new world, and that it is a world of youth. Nothing we can say or do will alter that fact! And while this new world has its glaring defects, we need to remind ourselves that so also had the old world which is so often lamented.

A MIGHTY DISTRACTION

In this new world there is no Sunday and none of the marks of older religion. Even the Churches have played a part in bringing about this change; they have welcomed the beach-girl, with her bare-legs and shorts, reduced their sermons to vanishing-point, and tacitly, at least, have sanctioned Sunday games and sports. Science, has played an even larger part in the creation of the new world. Wireless from being a scientist's experiment has become a public nuisance and a new religious sect. Biology and psychology have thrown their conclusions in the face of the world, and the point of importance is not whether their conclusions are true, but that in the cinema, on the pages of a million novels, and in hundreds of colourful magazine articles, they are being thrust before the world of youth, and they are a mighty distraction.

New ideas about sex are never new enough to shock the "younger-set", and though they still cling to the old sentimental marriage system it is only because society has not discovered to them a more satisfactory procedure. The great morass of chaotic ideas in which they live, is to them, just a morass of chaotic ideas.

AN EPIDEMIC OF LIVER DISORDER

By Dr. Quignon Of The Faculty Of Medicine,
Paris

Just now I am kept very busy by an epidemic of "liver" disorders—a great many people feeling "out of sorts", bilious, depressed and unable to enjoy their food. Undoubtedly the best remedy for an upset liver is provided by certain famous Continental Mineral Springs, but science has now made it possible for all liver sufferers to enjoy, in their homes, all the benefits of Continental Spa treatment, at little cost. By reproducing in crystalline form the essential principles of seven world-renowned Spas, including those at Vichy, Carlsbad, Aix-les-Bains and Marienbad, "Alka Salutes" provides what is probably the finest liver tonic and corrective known. It is obtainable from all high class Dispensaries and Stores.

To men and women who are feeling liverish and "out of sorts" and to those who are suffering from Rheumatism, Lumbago, Kidney trouble and High Blood Pressure—I can recommend "Alka Salutes" with confidence and I advise them to start the treatment without delay.

They have no background of valid personal or imaginative experience with which to assess them, so unless religious people bestir themselves and their intelligence, unless they are prepared to understand the present situation as it comes to the "younger-set", they will but stand in the way of the inevitable onrush of youth, and make their religion an odious insincerity.

HAS THE CHURCH FAILED THEM?

The disasters and failures of mankind are vindications of the truth of Christianity, and in the face of the new world in which we live it is fatally easy to exaggerate the decline in genuine personal religion. It is true, however, that the appreciation of the Church is weak, and that the "younger-set" have very little use for it; the sum total of their opinions, if they could be expressed at all, would simply be that the Church is not so much a spent force as a discredited one. The responsibility for this state of affairs lies at the door of the Church herself.

The theological and ethical controversies of the last half century, which now linger only faintly in such old-fashioned books as George Bernard Shaw's, "The Black Girl in Her Search for God", and Russell's "Marriage and Morals", have wrought an evil which remains alive in the internal disputes and dissensions whereby the Church is divided. Such pre-eminence and emphasis has been given to these purely intellectual and debatable issues, that it is surely a matter for little surprise that the "younger-set" have preferred the rapture and thrill of nature, and of their own bodies, which at least are undebatable, to listening to the often ill-tempered arguing and wrangling of ministers, priests and laymen.

THE CHURCH AND WAR

Youth cannot be said to have discarded Christianity, it has hardly had a chance to examine it, and, moreover, when it does turn the pages of the last twenty-five years it discovers a more gigantic failure still—it becomes abundantly clear to youth, that the Church, which claims to present the truth of Christianity, almost universally supported the last war. It is to this moral failure of the Church wherein the wholesale murder of war was sanctioned, that the discrediting of her leadership in all other matters can be attributed. (See leader on page 8). This is notably true in the realm of sexual experience. A torrent of crudely informed ideas on this subject has been poured into the minds of youth who, consequent upon the moral collapse of the Church which had been the guardian of this realm, find no standard whereby to judge them.

Yes, it is true that the Church has failed the "younger-set", failed them most grievously, and is still failing them, and so if a young man prefers to go bathing with a scantily-clad girl on Sunday morning, and to take her to the cinema, only a very little more substantially clad, in the evening, he, and the girl who accompanies him, are more to be pitied than pilloried.

A GREAT SINCERITY

From the foregoing it would appear that the condition of the "younger-set" is a grievous one indeed—but is it?

Although the spiritual level of the Church may rise and fall, religion, and especially Christianity, remains a great and inescapable reality. It will doubtless take a long time for youth to sort things out for themselves and to knock them into shape again, but when they have done that, they will discover that they have only reformulated the Faith of their Fathers, having purified it, perhaps, of many incenseless.

'SUBSTANCE'

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE LESSON SERMON

The subject of the Lesson Sermon in all Christian Science Churches to-morrow, September 13, will be "Substance."

The Golden Text will be "Now faith is the substance of things hoped for, the evidence of things not seen." (Hebrews II: 1).

Amongst others, the following citations from the Bible will be read: "Rejoice in the Lord, O ye righteous: for praise is comely for the upright. For the word of the Lord is right; and all his works are done in truth. By the word of the Lord were the heavens made; and all the host of them by the breath of his mouth. Let all the inhabitants of the world stand in awe of him. For he spake, and it was done; he commanded, and it stood fast. The counsel of the Lord standeth for ever, the thoughts of his heart to all generations. Blessed is the nation whose God is the Lord; and the people whom he hath chosen for his own inheritance." (Psalms: 1, 4, 6, 8, 9, 11, 12).

The Lesson will also include the following passages from the Christian Science Textbook "Science and Health with key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy.

God, has created all in and of himself. Spirit never created matter. There is nothing in Spirit out of which matter could be made, for, as the Bible declares, without the Logos, the Word of God, "was not anything made that was made." Spirit is the only substance, the invisible and indivisible infinite God. Things spiritual and eternal are substantial. Things material and temporal are insubstantial. Substance is that which is eternal and incapable of discord and decay. Truth, Life, and Love are substance, as the Scriptures use this word in Hebrews: "The substance of things hoped for, the evidence of things not seen." Spirit, the synonym of Mind, Soul, or God, is the only real substance. The spiritual universe, including individual man, is a compound idea, reflecting the divine substance of Spirit. The substance, Life, Intelligence, Truth, and Love, which constitutes Deity, are reflected in His creation; and when we subordinate the false testimony of the corporeal senses to the facts of Science, we shall see this true likeness and reflection everywhere. God fashions all things after His own likeness. Life is reflected in existence, Truth in truthfulness, God in goodness, which impart their own peace and permanence." (Pages 275, 335, 408, 510).

It may be surprising to many to learn that there is practically no religious education given in the senior classes of our Government Schools. The only approximation to it is a course in Scriptural Knowledge in preparation for examinations. This is a very unsatisfactory state of affairs, and while admitting the difficulties in the way of serious religious instruction in such a colony as this, is something ought to be attempted.

We understand on good authority that this matter is at last exercising the minds of the clergy of the various non-Roman Catholic Churches, and we look forward to a decided step forward being taken in the near future.

Take SANATOGEN—then you will not feel so "nervy"

Weak nerves are starved which usually becomes worse unless yet, but a condition something is done.

The nerves must be fed, and that is exactly what SANATOGEN does Sanatogen feeds the nerves and thus strengthens them in a perfectly natural way.

Give your nerves Sanatogen and that tired "nervy" feeling will disappear entirely. That listlessness, those sleepless nights and lack of appetite—all symptoms of weakened nerves—will soon be forgotten. You will feel healthy again and ten years younger. Fresh red blood will flow through your veins, putting rosiness into your cheeks and bringing a sparkle into your eyes.

Think of it: over 25,000 physicians have testified in writing to the remarkable results obtained with Sanatogen. Follow their advice and get a package from your chemist to-day.

SANATOGEN

The True Tonic Food.
Obtainable at all Chemists.

Religious Education In Government Schools

ACTION CONTEMPLATED

It may be surprising to many to learn that there is practically no religious education given in the senior classes of our Government Schools. CLEARING HOUSE FOR CHARITIES

Since the Vicar of St. Andrew's, Kowloon, ventilated this subject some time ago the matter has been by no means shelved.

The number of beggars in the Colony of all races, is a staggering one. In one day no fewer than twenty-four persons presented themselves at the door of the house of one of the local clergymen. It is impossible for the individual to cope with such demands.

It is understood that the matter was discussed at a recent private meeting of clergy, but that no plan was formed, but it is felt that, while this is certainly a matter in which the Christian Churches should take the lead, the whole-hearted co-operation of all charitable institutions in the Colony should be given to it.

CHILDREN'S SALE OF WORK

LADY CALDECOTT ATTENDS

In aid of the Ministering Children's League a sale of Children's Work was held at Mrs. G. R. Sayer's residence, 154 The Peak, yesterday afternoon.

Lady Caldecott, wife of His Excellency the Governor, was present.

The Peak Children's Club with a membership of 33 have been working hard for the past two months for the sale.

The children's work on display was very neat. Bags, dresses, table-cloths, baskets, stools, etc., were included in the display.

The children did drill in the garden, and enjoyed themselves thoroughly.

Mrs. G. R. Sayer hopes to have a similar sale of children's work next summer.

FORBESA startling drama, based on a theme that made screaming headlines in the newspapers recently to-day at the King's Theatre in
"The Crime of Dr. Forbes," new Fox picture.Two astounding confessions that split a stunned world into angry, arguing factions, highlight this strange story of a physician who apparently violates his most sacred oath.Gloria Stuart, Robert Kent, Henry Armetta, J. Edward Bromberg, Sera Haden and Alan Dine-hart head the cast of this front-page drama, and their exceptional performances are said to enhance the tension and suspense that exists throughout, reaching a climax in the totally unexpected denouement.Produced by Executive Producer Sol M. Wurtzel, "The Crime of Dr.
Forbes" was directed by George Marshall from an original screen story by Frances Hyland and Saul Kins.

"SHOW BOAT"

An exceedingly versatile Irene Dunne is seen in Universal's "Show Boat," showing to-day at the Queen's and Alhambra Theatres.
Heretofore, Miss Dunne has been described as "charming" and "Patrician." She gained these attributes with her performances in "Cunaron," "Back Street," "Roberta" and "Magnificent Obsession."Now she will also be known as provocative, mischievous, almost mercurial. Irene Dunne proves in "Show Boat" that she could make a dramatic scene throb with dynamic force.Then she went beyond that.
She gave her songs the thrill of romance in her sequences with Allan Jones. She took on the personality of winsome blonde dancer in the show boat scene and sent a banjo over hurdles of harmony in the bargain.But the greatest surprise was her appearance as a modern Topsy.
In black face with kinky hair and shuffling steps, Irene showed a new ability as an actress. She out-topped Topsy, she danced with carefree abandon, played music that vibrated like jungle drums. She sang and scampered leaped and laughed like an imp on the golden stair as she presented the gay number, "Galivant'n Around."TELEPHONES IN CZECHOSLOVAKIAConsiderable progress has been made during the past two years in extending the network of telephones in Czechoslovakia, the total length of lines being now 1,100,- 000 km., compared with 800,000 km. in 1933. There are now 6,722 stations in existence, an increase of 20 per cent. over the 1933 figure.
while the number of subscribers is 143,000. At the present rate of increase it is anticipated that by the end of the current year the number will be 150,000, this being equivalent to one telephone per 100 head of population.DIARY OF LOCAL

the Zoo's largest zebra."We call him Lucky," said his keeper, looking fondly at the little creature as he lay comfortably in the straw, with his mother keeping guard above him, "because, in a way, he is lucky to be alive. As you can see, he has the ears and body of a donkey and the striped legs of a zebra. We bred him on purpose, and we hope he will be very useful to us."Lucky, when he is grown up, in

"Stork Derby"
EndingToronto's Bizarre $100,000 "Stork Derby" is nearly finished, and within the next two months the winner of the strangest race in history will be known.It began when an eccentric Toronto lawyer-sportsman named Charles Vance Millar left $100,- 000 for the mother who would give birth to the most babies in Toronto during the ten-year period following his death.The ten years are up on October 31.Mrs. Martin Kenny, a French-Canadian, claims to be leading the Derby field of mothers. She says she has given birth to 12 children in the time specified in the will,
and expects another one or
"maybe twins"—before October 31.

SURE OF WINNING

If she wins the $100,000, Mrs.
Kenny declares her first act will be to honour the memory of Mr.
Miller. She will hold a fitting ceremony at Millar's grave at Amprior (Ontario), with a brass band in attendance.Mrs. Kenny is so sure of winning that she refuses to join in any "share-the-wealth" schemes proposed by other mothers competing in the race."I was offered $10,000 to agree to an arrangement with the others," she declared.Some of the other mothers are showing a more communal spirit.
A meeting to discuss the advantages of forming a combine is to be held here under the leadership of Mrs. Grace Bagnato, one of the "favourite" competitors.The present standing of the contestants is as follows:—
Mrs. Kenny claims 12 children born in the required period, with another expected;

Mrs. Arthur Timleck, 10;

Mrs. Grace Bagnato, 9, with another expected;

Mrs. John Nagle, 8;

Mrs. Ambrose Harrison, Mrs.
Stephen Darrigo and Mrs. Gus Craziano, 6 each.There is a possibility that "dark horses" may suddenly enter the race with the announcement of a dozen or so babies.STAR

"BULLDOG JACK"

Jack Hulbert has the support of Fay Wray in "Bulldog Jack"
an original story by J.O.C. Orton.
Sydney Gilliat and Gerard Fairlie in collaboration with "Bapper,"
the famous author of the Bulldog Drummond stories. Also in the cast are Claude Hulbert, on the screen with his brother for the first time; Ralph Richardson, Gibb McLaughlin, Atholl Fleming and Paul Graetz. It is a kind of alias Bulldog Drummond story in which Jack Hulbert at first burlesques the hero, then acts his part in real earnest. The film is a Gaumont-British picture and a first-class piece of directional work by Walter Forde.

What's Fred Been Doing To His Hair?

It was Getting Very Thin, He was Going Bald
—THEN HE STARTED

HARLENE-HAIR-DRILL

And what a difference it made. His hair soon began to grow again. The bald patches disappeared and he's looking younger than ever. His friends were amazed. Harlene-Hair-Drill simply performs wonders. You should try it to-day.

HARLENE HAIR GROWER AND TONIC
The greatest Hair Restorer for both sexes. Banishes baldness, falling hair, lifeless hair, brittle hair, too-dry or too-greasy scalp, etc. Infuses new life and vitality into each hair follicle and revives the weakened tissues. Quickly brings back youthful appearance.

CREMEX SHAMPOO
No hair can be healthy unless it is cleansed thoroughly to remove dust and deposits, etc. Shampoo with "CREMEX." Its generous creamy lather is delightfully refreshing and super-cleansing. It frees the hair from every trace of Scurf and Dandruff and is most beneficial to the scalp. FREE Blemishing Rinse included.

UZON BRILLIANTINE
"UZON" gives just that final touch of distinction to the coiffure and is invaluable to those with overdry scalp. Keeps unruly hair in place and preserves that well-groomed appearance through the whole day. In Liquid or Solidified form.

CHILLS Weaken the Chest

—Take PEPS
BEWARE of sudden chills and colds! They leave you exposed to bronchitis and other serious chest weakness. Be wise, and at the first sneeze or shiver take Peps breatheable tablets. Peps are wonderfully soothing and healing. They soon destroy infection germs, and throat trouble and strengthen and invigorate the chest and lungs. Also for coughs, of all kinds, influenza, bronchitis, asthma, catarrh, etc.

RUSSIAN WITHOUT VALID PASSPORT

Benevolent Society Approached

KNOWN TO THE POLICE

Victor Boutakoff, aged 34, and Bishen Singh, 40, were charged before Mr. S. F. Balfour at the Central Police Court yesterday with entering the Colony without valid passports.

Boutakoff was sentenced to six weeks, hard labour. An expulsion order was made.

Sergeant Loughlin stated that the defendant was a known bad character. He had recently come from America and had gone to the Hong Kong Benevolent Society for assistance. It was unfortunate for him that a Russian Police officer happened to be there and arrested him.

At the Police Station defendant gave his name as George White and said that he was an American, but the Police knew otherwise. This name was the same as had been given to the Benevolent Society.

INDIAN'S CASE

Regarding the Indian, Detective Sergeant P. H. Loughlin stated that he arrived on the s.s. Hal Tan without a passport. In 1929 he was dismissed from the Police Force and was sent to India. He had gone to Singapore and Amoy, both places needing no passports and from thence had come to Hong Kong. A Sergeant of the Guards knew defendant and reported him to the Police.

Sergt. Loughlin added that defendant would have to be repatriated by the Government and asked for a prison sentence. There were quite a number of these Indians in the Colony and it had been agreed with the India Government that only Indians who had guarantee of work in Hong Kong were granted passports. The cost of repatriation was about $90. The defendant was sentenced to two weeks and an expulsion order was made against him.

CHARACTER OF A. E. HOUSMAN

Famous Poet Did Not Court Publicity

Light on the character of the late A. E. Housman is thrown by biographical details which the "News Chronicle" published by permission of Mr. Laurence Housman, his brother and literary executor. With the publication of two small volumes poetry, "A Shropshire Lad" and "Last Poems," Housman achieved a world-wide reputation. He did not give interviews nor court publicity, and only a few intimate friends knew the man behind the work.

"My brother on one occasion explained that very little in 'A Shropshire Lad' was autobiographical," said Mr. Laurence Housman. "More Poems" to be published by Jonathan Cape this autumn, will be the last work to appear under his name, and represents a collection I have made from his manuscripts.

"There are few poems in this book that are directly personal. Some about Youth, he wrote when he was getting on in years.

"But I think a great deal of the bitterness and anger in his poetry is explained by the fact that he was grieved that the laws of God and man are not kinder. He had a deep and lively sympathy for all ill-treated fellows, and especially for the young.

MANUSCRIPTS DESTROYED

"Before my brother died he directed that I should destroy all his prose manuscripts in whatever language, and permitted me, while not instructing me, to publish any poems which appeared to me complete and not inferior to the average of the published poems. All other poems and fragments of verse were to be destroyed.

"This is a great responsibility, for while I am anxious to include nothing that would hurt my brother's reputation, I feel it would be hard for lovers of his work to be deprived of any, however minor in character, which are not inferior to other published poems, also minor in character."

Mr. Housman explained that his brother did not wish to publish any more than "A Shropshire Lad" and "Last Poems," but during his last years he accepted the wishes of

OPIMUM FOUND ON SHIP

Accused Gives Evidence

Yeung Chan Po took the stand in his own defence yesterday when he appeared on remand before Mr. S. F. Balfour at the Central Police Court on a charge of doing an act preparatory to exporting opium on board the s.s. Hozan Maru on July 29. He was also charged with the possession of 5,500 taels of raw opium.

It will be recalled that when R. O. Ward and party acting on information conducted a search on the s.s. Hozan Maru they found five wooden cases in one of the holds. Inside each of these cases were six tins, each containing 40 pounds of opium, a total of 5,500 taels. The consignor of the cases was the Nam Lung firm of which the defendant was the manager. The defendant had stated that the cases were the property of Mei Kee.

Mr. M. J. Abbott, Assistant Crown Solicitor, appeared for the prosecution, whilst Mr. Hin Shing Lo was for the defence.

At the outset of the hearing yesterday Mr. Abbott objected to Sub-Inspector Sabey testifying to a statement made by another defendant, who had jumped bail.

Mr. Lo argued that since both were charged with the same offence at the same time, it was only fair that the Inspector be called.

Mr. Balfour ruled that as the prosecution had closed its case, Inspector Sabey was allowed to be called.

The Police officer, however, could not remember the statements.

The defendant, in evidence explained that the other defendant was a travelling trader in his firm. He had had dealings with him before, buying newspapers and sweets. On this occasion the papers were bought through the other defendant on the instructions of a fook of the firm, as to the sweets, they had been purchased by the other defendant. Both had been recorded.

The entries had been made in the books because the expected commission from the other defendant. Witness denied knowing the cases seized, contained opium.

At this stage the hearing was adjourned.

many who had hoped for another book.

"Had my brother made this final selection I know well enough that he would have judged his work very severely," said Mr. Housman, "but I feel bound to interpret his instructions as sympathetically as possible. He wrote, 'Not good' across only one completed poem, so that I believe he meant me to use my judgment freely about the text."

"Some of the poems to be published this autumn date from the 'Shropshire Lad' period.

"Those who fear that much of value may be lost through the destruction of some manuscripts will be glad to know that he left no unfinished poems or fragments which are of outstanding quality. It is true that a few single verses and beautiful phrases must be sacrificed."

"But I have felt it right to keep a few which seem to have completeness in spite of brevity."

Mr. Housman will be able to give in the new volume one example of how his brother worked, and how he altered poems until he was satisfied. There will be two versions of 'one poem. A. E. left no indication of which he preferred.

Inscribed in stone above the poet's ashes now interred under the north wall of Ludlow Church, are lines taken from "More Poems."

"Good-night. Ensured release. Imperishable peace. Have these for yours." The new volume will also include the verses written by the poet in 1925 for his funeral.

CROCKERY STOLEN FROM GODOWN

IMPRISONMENT FOR FOUR MEN

What appears to have been larceny on an organised scale was the subject of a charge which was brought against four men at the Central Police Court yesterday before Mr. S. F. Balfour. The defendants were Man Fook, 38, Li Shui, 37, Tam Sing, 34, and Pun Po, 28, all unemployed, who were charged with store breaking at No. 18, Tsui On Lane, ground floor, on September 9, and stealing a quantity of crockery were valued at $20, the property of Lo Wing Cheung, manager of the Lo Kam Fal firm.

Wong Yeung Kau, 37, a licensed hawkster was charged with receiving. The first four defendants pleaded guilty, but the fifth stated that he had bought the crockery but did not know it was stolen.

Detective Sergeant C. Downman stated that on information received he went to No. 2, Man Ming Lane, which was an opium den and there found the four defendants in possession of four baskets of crockery. The fifth defendant was met coming up the stairs and said that he was visiting a friend.

The charge against the fifth defendant was withdrawn.

Sergeant Downman stated that the premises adjoining the complainant's godown had not been occupied for a long time. Five days ago it was rented. The defendant's must have entered the godown by means of the rear door.

Sentence of three months' hard labour each was passed.

POSSESSION OF REVOLVER AND AMMUNITION

Unemployed To Stand Trial

Charged with the possession of a revolver and five rounds of ammunition, Chan Kau, alias Chan Luk, 35, unemployed, of Fu Lai Village, Kwong Ning district, was committed for trial at the next Sessions by Mr. Q. A. A. Macraiden at the Kowloon Magistracy yesterday.

The accused was arrested on information in Pakhoi Street and the arms were found concealed in his girdle.

A further charge of returning from banishment brought against the accused was adjourned to Monday.

Det-Sub-Ins. R. Cunningham conducted the prosecution.

COLLISION NARROWLY AVERTED

LORRY DRIVER FINED

As a result of a narrowly averted head-on collision on the Pokfulam Road, Tsang Chi Chuen, driver of a lorry was charged before Mr. W. Schofield at the Central Police Court yesterday with driving without due care and caution on September 2.

Mr. G. H. Wilson, the complainant, said that he was travelling in a car along Pokfulam Road towards Aberdeen when he saw a bus approaching with a lorry behind. The lorry drew out as though to pass the bus but in doing so swerved right out on to the wrong side of the road. Both vehicles applied brakes and stopped with but four feet separating their bonnets.

Defendant was fined $25.

CROWN LANDS AUCTION

Two Tsun Wan Lots Sold To Chinese

At the District Office South yesterday morning, two lots of Crown Lands registered as Tsun Wan Demarcation District Nos. 354-355, Lots Nos. 205 and 273 were sold in one lot by public auction.

The lots which are situated at Chai Wan Kok has a total area of about 20 acres, and the annual Crown rental is $20.

The lots are to be held from the Crown for a term of 75 years, commencing from July 1, 1898, with the option of renewal for one further term of 24 years.

The upper price for the two lots was $870 and this was advanced by bids of $5 until the sum of $1,015 was reached, when Mr. Wong Kit Wan became the purchaser.

Mr. B. C. K. Hawkins, District Officer South, conducted the sale.

DEAF MATE UNABLE TO PLEAD

Discharged After Remands

Lam Ching Chiu, a deaf mute, stole an ankle from a young baby who was being carried on her mother's back.

Considerable difficulty was encountered yesterday when no one in the Kowloon Magistracy could understand him when the mute appeared on remand.

After repeated remands, he was discharged by Mr. E. Himsforth, and he is to be sent to the China Mute Society, 94, Hah Po Street.

Evaded Payment Of Fare

Student Caught On Ferry

FINE IMPOSED

Fung Wah-hon, 18, a student, tried to have a ride on the Man Yeung, on Thursday without paying his fare.

On being questioned by Traffic-Inspector L. A. Hurlow of the Vehicular Ferry Company, the lad told him that he had a ticket, but that it was left at home.

Inspector Hurlow took him to the Office, and found that the records did not bear defendant's name.

He then asked Inspector Hurlow to let him go.

In evidence, Fung Wah-hon told the Kowloon Magistrate yesterday that someone else had signed his name on the ticket, and he did not know what the name was.

Mr. MacFadyen (Magistrate): Who got your ticket?—I got it myself, but I didn't know what name I signed.

Defendant added that he did not know the practice of obtaining tickets.

The defendant was fined $12.

Men Who Work 365 Days A Year To Keep City Clean

6,525.5 Tons Of Refuse Removed From Hong Kong In August

"A Good Lot Of Servants"

There is an army of men whose work is taken very much for granted but it is of primary importance to the health of the community. Wet or sunny weather they go about their task, and if it were not for them, existence in this "Riviera of the Orient" of ours, would scarcely be tolerable. They are the 900 street cleaners.

Credit is not bestowed on them because they are taken for granted: at first sight their task seems too simple and prosaic to be of interest to the general public.

There is one organisation, however, that is fully alive to the good work executed by these men every day of the year—an organisation where careful and reliable supervision is essential to see that every spot in the colony is cleansed. This is the Sanitary Department.

An official of this organisation said to a representative of the "Hong Kong Daily Press" yesterday about the street cleaners or "scavenging lane coolies" as they are also known, "They are a good lot of servants. They work 365 days a year, the only official holiday being Chinese New Year. But you know what the streets look like 'after this festive day'! Littered with burnt-out crackers, paper and refuse of all descriptions. The men have, consequently, to work overtime the next day to clear the refuse away, commencing at midnight till noon, the following day. Their day-off is just a busman's holiday!"

Every morning the men arise at 4.30 a.m. when the rest of the town is slumbering and set about their task. The Peak district is cleared up as early as 3.30 in the morning. In addition to this morning work, Central district is swept and cleaned by gangs of men four times a day in the business area, while other areas are swept twice daily. The same applies to Kowloon.

THE WEEKLY SCRUB

Once a week the whole town is given a scrub down, although Central district is cleaned thus every day of the year.

"And yet no sooner than the streets have been swept clean," said the official, "they become dirty again. Everything unwanted goes out of the window, and this is the most serious problem with which we have to contend! If people will only learn to burn what is unwanted, our task would be greatly simplified."

In Shanghai the authorities there have to contend with the same problem, and according to official statistics from this port, of 183 miles of roads under the control of the Council, 149 are cleaned daily as well as 35 miles of public alleyways.

SWEEPING MILES

It could not be estimated accurately off-hand, said our informant, the amount of mileage cleaned a day by the scavenging coolies. A rough figure could be arrived at, however, as it was known that the average mileage travelled by refuse lorries during normal weather conditions during the year was 514.85 miles, including both Hong Kong and Kowloon. This figure, of course, did not include mileage traversed in scavenging lanes with which the Colony abounds, and which are covered by the men on foot, because they are inaccessible to motor traffic.

It was pointed out that although the men only had one official holiday—on Chinese New Year—casual leave of 12 days duration was given each applicant when and at such time as he desired. The men, however, very rarely availed themselves of this privilege.

During last month, 6,525.5 tons of refuse was removed by lorries from Hong Kong. In Kowloon, 395.8 tons were removed!

As a result of the typhoons which visited these shores last month, an additional 99.5 tons of refuse was removed in Hong Kong and 518 tons on the mainland. This was composed in the main of leaves strewn over the highways and byways.

Refuse from the Colony and mainland is removed by a fleet of barges to Kun Tong, situated on the mainland between Ngau Sze Wan and Lyceum, where it is dumped as a basis for a large reclamation scheme in the bay.

IN STORMY WEATHER

Whenever a storm signal is hoisted, the barges are automatically taken off their runs, and are placed in the typhoon shelter. Daily refuse collected from the city in these circumstances is placed in special quays in the eastern and western districts. Immediately the storm signals are lowered, the barges have to work overtime to clear the accumulated refuse in addition to the collection of the day.

BARGEMEN, TOO

The 900 scavenging coolies employed daily are further reinforced by 158 bargemen, whose task is to remove the refuse off the barges and dump it into the reclamation area.

RATS GALORE

In addition, 128 "cleaning" coolies are employed, their work having nothing to do with street cleaning. Their task is housecleaning, and a certain number of them are daily employed in rat-collecting. Last year the total number of rats caught was 94,676 in Hong Kong and 97,575 in Kowloon.

STRIKING STATISTICS

The following figures gleaned from official sources make interesting reading:—

Average daily mileage of refuse lorries in normal weather conditions during year 1936:

Hong Kong, 345.56 miles;
Kowloon, 169.29 miles;
Total: 514.85 miles.

Average amount of refuse removed daily by lorry during normal weather for 1936:

Hong Kong, 207.3 tons;
Kowloon, 114.5 tons;
Total: 321.8 tons.

During August 1936, total mileage travelled by lorries in Hong Kong: 12,433 miles;

In Kowloon: 6,046 miles.

Total refuse removed in Hong Kong: 6,525.5 tons; In Kowloon, 395.8 tons.

Additional refuse removed as a result of typhoon in August: Hong Kong: 99.5 tons; Kowloon: 518 tons.

Additional mileage travelled by lorries as a result of the typhoons last month: Hong Kong, 1,721 miles; Kowloon, 793 miles.

It was stated that 400 lorry loads of leaves were removed to the Botanical depot in mid-levels. The leaves are utilised by the Botanical and Forestry Department for potting purposes.

LEFT FOR MANILA

Amongst the departures on the outgoing vessel to Manila yesterday were Mr. G. W. Greene partner in Payne & Co., local New York brokers, accompanied by Mr. Geo. F. Rowe who is proceeding to Manila to take charge of this Company's organization in Manila.

EXCAVATIONS AT CLARENDON PALACE

HUNTING LODGE OF KINGS

The excavations, which have been resumed for the fourth successive August, at the site of Clarendon Palace, near Salisbury, Wiltshire, have proved most fruitful. They are being carried out under the direction of Dr. Tancred Borenius, Professor of the History of Art at London University, and Mr. J. Charlton, a well-known archaeologist.

Clarendon Palace, which is situated on a wooded hill-top overlooking a narrow valley and commanding a distant view of Salisbury Cathedral's spire, is on land belonging to the estate of Mrs. E. N. Christie-Miller, on the northern fringe of the New Forest. For four or five centuries it was a favourite hunting-lodge and country seat of the English kings and was almost unique for its time in that the building was unfortified. It was here that Henry II. assembled the barons to enact the "Constitutions of Clarendon," restraining the encroachments of the Court of Rome; it was here, barely five miles from the former fortification of Old Sarum, where William the Conqueror first received the homage of his vassal knights; that Edward I. received Philip of Navarre, come to acknowledge him monarch of both England and France; it was here that John, King of France, and David, King of Scots, spent part of their captivity.

THE KING'S APARTMENTS

The palace seems to have consisted of a number of building built round a courtyard and connected by a series of cloisters. This year's programme of excavations provides for the uncovering of the King's apartments and a smaller suite, probably that of the Queen. Preliminary diggings in 1933 revealed the general outlines of the palace. In 1934, the kitchens and smaller buildings were excavated, while last year was devoted to the royal apartments, a work which has been continued with some success this year.

The Antioch chamber in the royal suite is being slowly and carefully cleared. It is on record that here there was a great mural painting of the combat between Richard I. and Saladin. The walls still retain traces of richly painted plaster, but, unfortunately the walls of this chamber and those of the rest of the palace which remain are only a few feet in height, with the exception of one wall, reinforced by buttresses, at the eastern end of the great hall.

A finely moulded pillar base has now been found in the Antioch chamber. It was probably one of a series which supported the roof and another floor above. Farther down in the soil the excavators have found a large number of tiles, many bearing intricate interlacing lines, while the presence on some of them of letters seems to indicate that there was once an inscription on the tiled floor.

One of the most important discoveries this year is that of a small angel's wing, exquisitely wrought in stone. The original gilding and red colouring are still apparent. It was found when one of the chambers in the Queen's suite was being cleared, and as a dainty fragment is comparable in importance with the sculptured head of a youth in early Gothic style found at Clarendon last August which was exhibited at the Burlington Fine Arts Club's exhibition of Gothic art held in London recently.

DECORATED GLAZED TILES
A number of glazed tiles of a type of decoration not previously known in England have also been found. They have a yellow design on a red background, a simple but effective arrangement of a broad zigzag line bordered by rows of circles and rosettes which are split up by other broad, but straight lines. Other glazed tiles found this year bear the figure of Richard I. fighting on horseback.

The importance of one discovery recently is not yet known. It is a massive stone foundation at the entrance to the wine cellar, but its purpose cannot be properly

IMPACT OF SCIENCE ON SOCIETY

London, Sept. 10.

A large number of sectional meetings of the British Association were held yesterday at Blackpool. Several newspapers devoted editorial comment to the Presidential address, delivered yesterday by Sir Josiah Stamp, on "The Impact of Science on Society." Sir Josiah's main point was the need for research devoted specifically to social problems created by scientific advances. He advocated that future endowments for research should be applied more to the biological and human sciences than to the applied physical sciences.

WAR IS A CHOICE

The European correspondents of newspapers continue to paint a grim picture of the imminence of war.

Correspondents report that while the outstanding fact a few months ago was the rearmament of Germany, the outstanding fact today is the superarming of the rest of Europe. They report that time alone is holding off open hostilities while the nations jockey for position and rush to complete vast military preparations. They report that the war machine is on a time-schedule and the outcome inevitable.

No one familiar with the forces making for war on the Continent today will deny that there are grounds for these forebodings. No one questions observable facts nor discounts their meaning. But they are not all the facts; they are not the most important facts; and war is not inevitable. It has never been inevitable. It need not be inevitable now.

War is a choice and we need not choose it. The current few months may very well prove to be decisive for good or for ill. The position at this moment is acute. And at the same time and for the same reason it is ripe for rectification. War can be made avoidable; war can be made unnecessary; war can be made impossible. The forces of conflict can be controlled for good as the Christian people of the world stand unshakably upon the teachings of their religion and prove their application at this time and in this crisis.

The cause of peace needs the support of numbers. Yes. But more than that it needs the support of individual thinkers and individual thinking. The "inevitable" trend to war can be made an inevitable trend to peace as Christian people in all countries cast the weight of their understanding and their example on the scales of peace—as the Christian people in all countries put their positive influence behind the affirmation and the practice of those Christian principles which remove the very foundation from war.

The controlling cause of present-day world conflicts is false competition between men and nations, for physical territory and for material prestige. The basis of this false competition is the acceptance of the belief that man is material, that man is born of dust, and that the true brotherhood of man is something for another time and another place than here and now. From the acceptance of this theory, which ancient Christians and modern Christians have proved untrue, man has become bound by territorial divisions, called nations; man has become limited by the claims of birth, called race; and man has become separated by the presence of many tongues, called languages.

The inevitability of war rests upon a lie. Man born of dust would be discordant, warring,

TURKISH PREMIER FOR LONDON

Unusually Large Delegation

MILITARY PACT RUMOUR

Istanbul, Sept. 11.

It is now officially announced that a Turkish delegation will visit London at the beginning of October at the latest. The delegation will be unusually large, comprising, besides the leader, the Turkish Premier, the Foreign Affairs, Finance, and Marine, as well as the Chief of the General Staff and three Generals, representing the three branches of the Defence Force.

It is stated here that an extensive programme of Turko-British co-operation in the field of military, political, economics and finance will be drawn up in London.

The reports, however, that a military pact has already been concluded between the two countries are declared to be premature.

hateful, self-destructive. This lie needs its falsity exposed by active Christianity. Its spell upon men is the deep sleep of material thinking and this spell must and can be broken. It is this belief in the dust-theory of man's origin which denies the brotherhood of man. It is the reality of man's spiritual origin which demonstrates the brotherhood of man here and now.

"The responsibility for Europe's crisis rests upon no one statesman and no one people. The greatest force for war comprises no single country and no single race. The greatest force for war is the world's blind acceptance of the theory that man is material and mortal, from which stem false gods and false conflicts grow.

JAPAN'S DEMANDS ON CHINA

CHINA'S FUTURE ATTITUDE

Opposition Or Friendship?

Tokyo, September 11.

A set of demands in connection with the Chengtu and Pakhoi incidents will be presented to the Chinese Government shortly by Mr. Kawagoe according to the newspaper "Nichi Nichi." It is stated that the Ambassador will require immediate acceptance including a clear-cut reply to the question whether China in the future "will oppose Japan or accept her friendship."

The "Asahi Shimbun" states that the Government yesterday despatched instructions to Mr. Suma, Japanese Consul-General at Nanking, and Mr. Yoshitake, Japanese Consul-General Canton, to give China a serious warning in connection with the Pakhoi affair.

They were also asked to urge the Nanking and Canton authorities to do their utmost to prevent a possible repetition of such unfortunate incidents and emphasize that should another occur, Japan would be compelled to recognise the Nanking Government as helpless to protect foreign residents in China.

KING EDWARD IN VIENNA

Stay May Be Extended

Vienna, Sept. 10.

King Edward VIII will extend his stay here possibly till early next week. The reason for the prolongation of His Majesty's stay, it is stated, is due to the advice of the ear specialist, Dr. Neumann, whom the King has consulted, and who advised an X-Ray treatment for several days.

The ear trouble from which the King is suffering is stated to be relatively harmless, so that the King can undertake a motor excursion to the Semmering and other points of interest whilst under treatment. On Thursday the King drove out to the British Minister's country seat at Trumau in Lower Austria for partridge shooting. Rumours that King Edward may meet ex-King Alfonso of Spain outside Vienna during his stay there still persist but informed quarters here point out that such a meeting is extremely unlikely.

PRESSMEN DETAINED AT SAN SEBASTIAN

STUBBORN BASQUE OFFICER

Intervention By French Ambassador

(“Hong Kong Daily Press” Special)

Paris, September 11.

The anarchistic conditions which prevail at San Sebastian were well illustrated by the correspondent of the “Matin,” who paid a visit to that town together with French and British correspondents, being conveyed there on board the French destroyer Alcyon.

The Governor of San Sebastian, Ortega, had consented to the visit of the pressmen, which had been arranged through the medium of the French Ambassador to Madrid, Herbet. Nevertheless the pressmen were, immediately upon arrival, escorted by armed guards to the commissioner for press and propaganda, who detained them for some hours.

The correspondent of the “Paris Sol” was even placed under arrest for sympathizing with the nationalists, and the Basque officer who arrested him repeatedly refused to obey the Governor's order to release him, the correspondent only being set free after energetic interventions on the part of Ambassador Herbet, who accompanied the pressmen from Hendaye.

GOVERNOR'S THREAT

The correspondent of the “Matin” then describes how the Communist Deputy Orondo subsequently tried to prevent 250 fugitives from embarking on the Alcyon, although their departure had been specially authorised by Governor Ortega.

When Ambassador Herbet insisted on the embarkation of the fugitives, Orondo shouted that the French had nothing to do with Spanish affairs, and threatened to throw the Ambassador into the sea. Two military attaches, who stood beside the Ambassador prevented with some difficulty Orondo from attempting to carry out his threat.

The fugitives embarked on the destroyer, under supervision of the Ambassador, who was the last person to board the ship, which then put out to sea en route for France.

CADETS SURRENDER ALCAZAR

Castle In Ruins

The Nationalist Cadets, who held the Castle of Alcazar in Toledo for 50 days against a much superior force, have at last been obliged to evacuate that fortress, which is now but a heap of smouldering ruins. It is added that the Cadets did not surrender to the Reds but barricaded themselves in a near-by monastery, which they captured in a desperate sortie when the Alcazar itself was given up. The Commander of the Reds sent an officer bearing a flag of truce to the Cadets, and assured the latter that their lives would be spared if they surrendered, but the Cadets declined to negotiate with the Reds, who thereupon resumed the bombardment. The women and children who held out heroically in the two months siege in the Alcazar with the Cadets, have likewise fled to the monastery. When asked to surrender, the Cadets said: “We know that we must die, but we will die only with arms in our hands.” The Cadets added that the 150 women and 250 children who held out with them would rather share the fate of the Cadets than entrust their lives to the Reds.

EVENTS LEADING TO MUTINY

London, Sept. 11.

An important statement, indicating that the Portuguese Government intends to “redouble its efforts to stamp out the sparks of Communism in the land, was contained in an official communique issued to-day.

35,000 MORE VISIT 1936 ACADEMY

Nearly £1,000 Less In Purchases

The Summer Exhibition of the Royal Academy closed with a record of 35,000 more visitors than last year and the highest total of attendance since 1931.

It was stated at Burlington House recently that the total attendance figures could not be given, but the attendance averaged 1,000 daily since the exhibition opened at the beginning of May. There had been a large increase in the number of overseas and foreign visitors, and an increase of 4,000 school children over last year's figures.

On the other hand, there has been a slight decrease in the number of works sold and in the total sum paid for purchases.

This year's decrease, it was stated, has probably been caused by the smaller number of purchases by provincial galleries, which, in turn, may be due to the preponderance of works suitable for homes as against “gallery pictures.”

A feature of this year's Academy has been the revival of interest in etchings and works in tempera. The most popular etchings have been Mr. Kenneth Holmes' “Derwent Water” and a figure study by Mr. Stanley Anderson, both of which have sold eight or nine copies.

The highest price paid for a picture so far is £12,500 for Mr. Gerald Brockhurst's “Armada.” This is the third year in succession that Mr. Brockhurst has obtained the highest price with paintings of his model, Miss Dorette Woodward.

Mr. Stanhope Forbes, the senior Academician, who is 78, sold four of his six pictures.

COMMUNIST OVERTURES TO THE LABOUR PARTY

FLAT REJECTION IN BRITAIN

Sir Walter Citrine Sums Up The Situation

London, September 11.

The Communist overtures to the Labour Party have been flatly rejected by Sir Walter Citrine. When addressing the Trades Union Council he said that after many years of unbridled derision and abuse of the Labour Party, the incongruous spectacle of the Communist organisations to ingratiate themselves with organised labour presented the most amusing spectacle in contemporary political history. “The simple explanation of the present Communist tactics is proof of the abject failure of the many attempts to capture the labour movement,” he declared.

“Notwithstanding years of subsidised propaganda, the Communist party of Great Britain is a negligible quantity and has utterly failed to get any hold on the mind of the electorate. ‘Don't let us be misled by the claim that the Communist party represents the workers,’ he added.

Sir Walter Citrine declared that the Liberal party has ceased to be a considerable political force, and the labour movement is being asked after all these years of fighting the Liberalist cause to re-establish it.

“The danger of Fascism in Great Britain is remote so long as we keep our heads,” he said. “The change in France is caused by the Popular Front arranging electoral methods so as not to fight one another inside the electoral system but it is impossible to produce the same conditions here.”

(“Hong Kong Daily Press” Special)

Nuremberg, Sept. 11. Speaking at a ceremony by the organisation for the Germans living abroad, the leader of this organisation, Bohle, mentioned the numerous sacrifices that these Germans had brought for National Socialism, and asked whether these sacrifices had really been necessary.

This question, so Bohle said, was to be answered in the affirmative, when it was considered what the work of the foreign organisation meant for Hitler and National Socialism.

If to-day still some circles uttered suspicion of the Party Groups in foreign countries, this was only rage because it had been hoped to keep the Germans living abroad away from National Socialism. “The world must get accustomed to the fact that Germany has again taken her place among the Great Powers, and whoever insults a German subject must know that he thereby insults the German Reich. I expect to see all the entrants facing the starter with the exception of Mortmain. Mr. S. Y. Liang will be up on Night View and this pony together with Young Chap (Mr. H.C. Pih) and Diogenes (Mr. Y. T. Fung) should contest the finish. King's Parade is conceded to have a fair chance in some quarters, but I imagine the distance is not exactly to his liking. Mr. Liang should provide the Lan stable with their first winner of the meeting, with Young Chap and Diogenes filling the minor positions.

The second race will be a 5 Furlongs sprint for 1936 Subscription Griffins of the Macao Jockey Club. The owners as yet have made no definite nominations, thus making my task of picking winners ever so much more difficult. I would advise punters to exercise a little caution in this race as well as the two others confined to these new subscription griffins. The tips given on the front page are based on my personal ideas as to the probable starters in the three events for this class of ponies. Shih Yin Grand, should run close with Victory Life and Eastlight providing their respective owners with stable upkeep. It may be possible that Shih Yin Grand be reserved for either the 4th Race (1 Mile) or the 6th Race (7 Furlongs), in which case it would be well to be on him wherever started. According to past performances, in Shanghai this pony during 1935 won a mile and a quarter race in 2:41-4/5, finishing the last quarter in 30-4/5.

VALLEY VIEW SHOULD WIN.

Valley View with Mr. Y.T. Fung in the saddle should have no difficulty in winning the Tolshan Handicap, 2nd Section, over 1 Mile. I understand that Mr. S.Y. Liang will be up on Ocean View but I do not believe the latter capable of extending his stable-mate. The opposition will probably be provided by Burgomaster and Judea. Balles and Blue Ribbon, it has been rumoured, will not be making the trip.

The Chung Shan Stakes will bring out further contenders from the batch of subscription griffins recently imported from Shanghai by the Macao Jockey Club. These are twelve entries and my selections are Brown Bee, Wentworth and Rotheray Bay. I have been told that Mr. Norman Deltz will have the mount on the former, which should greatly improve his chances of winning.

Ponies classified as "C" Class by the Hong Kong Jockey Club will meet, in the Fat Shan Handicap. The distance of 1 mile should suit Soldier of China admirably and Mr. S.Y. Liang, who will be the jockey, should provide the Lan stable with another winner. Harvest View (Mr. Y.T. Fung) and Bistre are my fancies for the remaining positions. The other starters will be Monoplane (Mr. C.F. Chiu), Soldier of Peace (Mr. P.P. Botelho) and Great Hall (Mr. G.U. da Rosa). The latter should not be entirely ignored as he has several fine performances on the Macao course to his credit.

Merry Doer (Mr. H.C. Pih) should do well in the Pao Shan Handicap which is for Macao subs over 7 Furlongs. Mr. Deltz has been booked to ride Shanghai Four and this grey, together with Hogmanay, one of the Chairman's entries, should finish behind Merry Doer.

The Ladies' Handicap Sprint, 1/2 Mile, will bring the meeting to a close. This dash should provide punters with an opportunity for a flutter. Though some of the starters have sported silk in the past their long absence from any serious track work might cause a certain amount of reversal of form. I believe The Snipe, Gunsmith and Blacksmith should provide their fair pilots with the much coveted souvenirs.

FIRST INTERPORT BASEBALL GAME

Filipinos To Meet Local Players

STRONG COMBINATION

(BY "BLEACHER")

Plans for the two games to be played with the Calamba Sugar Estate nine are to materialize on the scheduled dates, September 16 and 17.

The Polo Ground Kowloon, has been kindly loaned to the Hong Kong Baseball League for this, the first interport baseball match to be staged in the Colony.

Advance information on the Philippine lads are that they are a powerful team, and that their calibre of ball-playing is strong.

Our local lads will have to look to their laurels, but even if they lose, they probably will gain much by the experience from playing against the Manila team.

The first game will be played on Wednesday, September 16, at 5.15 p.m. and the admission charge will be 50 cents and 75 cents will be charged for grandstand seats.

The redoubtable Matty Chang has been invited to select an All-Star Chinese team for the first game, and Ernie Hearther is the captain of the Colony team.

Although the teams will be chosen within the next two days, it is impossible at present to indicate any line-up of the local nines.

It is understood that Dave Leonard will help the Chinese team in batting. All the facilities of the Polo Ground will be at the disposal of

COLONY SWIMMING CHAMPIONSHIPS

Preliminary Heats Held At V.R.C.

Heats in preparation for the coming Colony Aquatic championships, were held yesterday evening at the V.R.C. The first heat for the 100 yards Freestyle was a fight between W. Lawrence (V.R.C.) and Norman Lee (S.C.A.A.). Lawrence won, by the narrow margin of 2/5 of a second in a time of 57.4/5 secs.

H. Ozorio won the second heat in the time of 62.1/5 secs. In the fifty yards Freestyle, R. McCarthy (E. Lanes) clocked 28.4/5 secs. to return the best time for the distance. Lau Po Hei (H.K.U.) returned the best time for the 100 yards Backstroke of 69.4/5 secs. Lawrence was second in a time of 74.1/5 secs.

Two of the competitors of the 100 yards Breaststroke not appearing, there was no necessity for heats in that event.

The following swimmers qualified for the 100 yards final: W. Lawrence, Norman Lee, H. Ozorio, Cpl. R. McCarthy and Rlm. Hamilton.

50 Yards: Cpl. R. McCarthy, H. L. Ozorio, L. A. J. Lewis, R. Goldman and Rlm. Hamilton.

100 Yards Backstroke: Lau Po Hei, W. Lawrence, Pte. F. Taylor, Kwok Hon Ming and Rlm. Boon-hoon.

100 Yards Breaststroke: Cpl. A. Flides, L/Cpl. A. Thorpe, E. M. Marques and K. Nazarin.

MIXED

DOUBLES LEAGUE

CHINESE R. C. WIN TITLE

The Chinese Recreation Club, yesterday retained the Mixed Doubles League tennis shield when they defeated the Kowloon Cricket Club at Causeway Bay by the convincing margin of eight sets to one. Scores:—

W. C. Hung and Miss R. Perry (C.R.C.) beat E. C. Fincher and Miss O. Dalziel 6-2; beat E. F. Fincher and Mrs. McCaw 7-5; beat G. Bodiker and Miss A. Mackenzie 6-3.

M. W. Lo and Mrs. J. L. Litton (C.R.C.) beat Fincher and Miss Dalziel 6-4; beat Fincher and Mrs. McCaw 6-0; beat Bodiker and Miss Mackenzie 6-3.

Tsui Wai-pui and Mrs. Chiu Chun-chiu (C.R.C.) lost to Fincher and Miss Dalziel 2-6; beat Fincher and Mrs. McCaw 6-3; beat Bodiker and Miss Mackenzie 6-3.

GEM HOAHING IN FINAL

To Meet Miss Lumb At New Malden

Miss Gem Hoahing, the 15-year-old Chinese girl, will meet Mrs. M. E. Lumb, the squash rackets champion, in the final of the women's singles, at the New Malden Tournament.

In the semi-final Miss Hoahing defeated Miss R. Thomas, another 15-year-old player, by 6-2, 6-3. Considering their age, it was a very good match. Miss Hoahing's supremacy was in her all-court game. Miss Thomas was steady, but her drives did not have the paces or direction of Miss Hoahing's.

Miss Lumb, who has a really strong forehand drive, beat Miss N. Hiscok in two sets.

CHINA PONIES DUE

The China Pony Subscription Griffins, 1937, will arrive per s.s. Sinkiang on Thursday, September 17. By the courtesy of the Hong Kong Electric Co., Ltd., the ponies will be unloaded at "Mackie's" Wharf, Whitefield.

RECONSTRUCTION OF OLYMPIA

The well-known site for exhibitions in West Kensington known as Olympia is being reconstructed and extended. The work, which it is hoped will be completed by the autumn, includes the replacement of the Addison-road entrance and adjoining offices by a vestibule with a covered way to the station. There will also be a covered way to the Hammersmith-road entrance. The Empire Hall is being remodelled by replacing the central stairways by escalators, and six large lifts will also be installed, the result being that 500,000 sq. ft. will be available for exhibition purposes. A six-storey garage with accommodation for 650 cars is also being built. The architect is Mr. Joseph Emberton, and the contractors, Messrs. James Carmichael, Higgs and Hill and John Mowlem and Company, Limited.

AMERICA TENNIS CHAMPIONSHIP NEARS CLOSE

Perry Meets Grant In Semi-Final

KAY STAMMERS AGAINST HELEN JACOBS

Forest Hills, Sept. 10. The American Lawn Tennis championship is nearing its final stages.

In the quarter-finals played to-day, Helen Jacobs, Wimbledon title holder, easily defeated Gussie Raegener losing but one game in two sets. The scores were 6-1, 6-0.

Miss Jacobs will now meet Kay Stammers, the British hope, in the semi-final. Yesterday Miss Stammers defeated Carolyn Babcock (America) in the quarter-finals.

Helen Pedersen beat Dorothy Bundy 6-3, 4-6, 6-4, and thus qualified to meet Alice Marble, conqueror of Grace Wheeler, in the semi-final.

Fred Perry, the only foreigner left in the tournament, will meet Bryan Grant in the semi-final.

In the quarter-finals of the men's singles, Frankie Parker overcame Gregory Manjin, also of America, by the scores of 10-12, 6-0, 4-8, 6-1, 6-3, after a terrific battle.

Parker now meets Donald Budge in the semi-final. Budge defeated McDiarmid in three straight sets, 6-4, 6-3, 6-2.

GERMAN WOMEN LABOUR CAMPS COMPULSORY

Organisation Like Men's

NAME ALTERED TO "FEMALE YOUTH"

Decrees which make imminent the introduction of compulsory service in labour camps for German women on the same basis as is now in force for men are announced recently by the Reich Minister of the Interior, Dr. Frick.

The decrees state that the transference of the control of the Voluntary Women's Labour Service from the Reich Labour Exchange to the Reich Labour Service Headquarters has now been completed.

It is further provided that Herr Hess, Herr Hitler's deputy, is to be consulted on all appointments of officers, male and female, to the Women's Labour Service.

The name "Women's Labour Service" has been changed to "Labour Service for Female Youth," which after the introduction of compulsory service, it is stated, will correspond to the present "Labour Service for Male Youth."

Those entering must undertake to serve for the regulation period of six months. This period will remain the same when the service becomes compulsory.

The women live in camps, each of 40, with four leaders and four social comrades.

HELP FOR SETTLERS
Some of the camps are in districts where new settlements are being constructed. Here it is the duty of the inmates to make themselves generally useful to the wives of the new settlers and to help them overcome their initial difficulties. When this has been achieved the camp passes on to another settlement.

Other camps are in agricultural districts, where the girls help the farmers and their wives. A third kind of camp is in the "distressed" industrial areas, where the girls do the housework and care for the children of working-class women.

As the small number of participants in the scheme indicates, the Women's Labour Service is not very popular. Girls who lose their jobs are often in terror of reporting to the labour exchanges for fear of being sent to the labour camps.

The expansion of the present system into a compulsory system will be a considerable item in the budget. The cost of maintaining the 200,000 men in the compulsory labour service is given as about £17,000 annually.

Japanese Olympic Swimmers

RECENT VISIT TO LONDON

Into a reception-room at a London club recently marched the 49 Japanese swimmers who have made history.

These Japanese, whom I last saw in Berlin, have come from Cologne. Next week they go on to Paris; then from Marseilles home. In 28 days they will have appeared at 14 swimming meetings.

There were short speeches by Mr. H. E. Fern, the English president of the International Swimming Federation, by Sir Noel Curtis Bennett, president of the Empire Swimming Club, who are hosts to the Japanese, and in reply by Mr. Abe, of the Japanese Olympic Council.

The club offered their swimming bath. One would have thought a swim the last thing the visitors wanted. Quite the reverse. They were immediately happy.

In the water was Hamuro, winner of the Olympic breast stroke championship last month. Another was Reizo Koike who was second in this race in 1932 and third in 1934. There was Terada, who won the 1500 metres race and is now going for the 800, and the four who made up the record-breaking relay team—Arai, Yusa, Taguchi and Sugita. There was the diver, Shibahara—fourth in Berlin—and the back-stroke swimmer, Kiyokawa.

What makes these small men so successful. The intriguing fact about the rowing men from Tokyo was the care and thought shown in their boat design. These swimmers have the same powers of pluperfect concentration. They take pains.

At a certain hour, each day, they perform complex physical exercises. No matter where they are at that hour, together, or alone, indoors or out, each man goes through his programme. The more one thinks over this fact the less hard it is to answer why they swim so fast.

At water polo they are not striking, but busy they always are. And worriers. And thinkers. I commented that when I saw them in Berlin, I was struck by the scrupulous sportsmen that they proved to be.

The answer was significant: "We have to be. We are so small." Hyton Cleaver in the "Evening Standard."

COUNTY CRICKETER KILLED

Former England Batsman Seriously Injured

CAR LEAVES ROAD

Mr. Reginald Philip Northway, the Northamptonshire County cricketer, was killed, and A. H. Bakewell, the well-known Northamptonshire batsman, who has played for England, was seriously injured when the car in which they were travelling left the road near Kibworth, Leicestershire, recently.

Bakewell, who the previous afternoon had scored 241 runs not out—only 16 runs short of the highest score of his career—was taken to Leicester Royal Infirmary, where he recovered consciousness at 11 a.m. and was able to recognise everyone. He underwent a serious operation in the afternoon.

Both Northway and Bakewell suffered head injuries. They were flung out of the car when it struck the hedge. The accident occurred at a sharp bend, the car plunging through the hedge into a field.

RETURNING FROM CHESTERFIELD

Mr. Northway and Bakewell were returning from Chesterfield, where, against Derbyshire, they were the opening batsmen for their county.

Mr. J. E. Timms, another member of the Northampton team, was driving a car in front of that in which were Mr. Northway and Mr. Bakewell. Missing the lights of the car behind, he turned back and discovered what had happened.

Mr. Northway, who was 27, was representative of a Bath engineering firm. His home was in Ceylon, and he had been staying at Grafton Regis Rectory with the Rev. R. N. Beasley, who was formerly a well-known Rugby football player.

THE EXCHANGE MARKET

MESSRS. ROZA BROS.

Silver prices dropped 1/16 yesterday for both deliveries, the quotations being 19 1/2 for Ready and Forward. Silver advices reported India as having operated both ways. Speculators sold. After the official fixing there were some American trade buying but the market was quiet and speculators were inclined to sell. In America the rate was unchanged at 44 3/4 for Spot.

The London-New York cross-rate was quoted at 5.05 1/2. New York-London was quoted at 5.05 17/32.

MARKET
Opened uncertain, but later steadied up slightly owing to some speculative resales.

STERLING
There were sellers after the opening at 1/2 3/4 for the 1st half of October and 1/2 23/32 October-January. Later a small business was arranged at 1/2 25/32 for cash. VISITOR ROBBED IN QUEEN'S ROAD

Mr. B. Merrell of the Lingnan University has reported to the Police that he was robbed while walking along Queen's Road Central about 10 a.m. yesterday. Mr. Merrell is passing through the Colony on board the s.s. Tarcomi Maru.

The age-old trick was used. Two men collided with Mr. Merrell when he was about opposite the China Emporium. After apologising these two men passed on—but as was later discovered—so did Mr. Merrell's wallet, from out of his pocket.

The wallet is initialed "B.M." and contains £825 and $7 Shanghai currency, as well as some papers.

POCKET PICKED ON FERRY

Having delayed reporting the theft to the Police for over six days, Mr. N. B. Fox, c/o Messrs. Butterfield & Swire, reported yesterday the loss of his wallet which was said to have been lost on the Star Ferry on the Hong Kong side when he felt his pocket being picked. The incident occurred on September 5, about 8.15 a.m.

The wallet is of black leather and contained the sum of £40 and a Ferry season ticket.

HAVE YOU SEEN THE BIRD?

The Police have had many queer requests for the finding of lost property, but the latest request is that of searching for a lost bird. Mrs. Luke of No. 15A, Magazine Gap Road, is the unfortunate owner of the bird. It escaped from its cage and has not been seen since.

For those who would assist in finding the bird, it has been described as a Chinese Myna and is able to talk. No reward is offered, but if anyone should be met by a bird who enquires its way back home, the above is the address.

This is how a man who has travelled 50,000 miles this year stated his views (Mr. J. J. Wright, of London):—"I marvelled at Prussia and its iron sentiment before the last world war. I did not think the world would ever witness anything like it again. It seems to me, after a quick but very thorough tour of the main centres of Japan that the Prussian sentiment of yesterday lives more purposefully in the Japan of today. Say what you like about low wages, suppression of individuality of thought and action, and rabid imperialism—the fact remains that Japan conveys the impression of a vast nation which is being propelled towards a definite goal by millions of 'men of destiny.' So thorough has been the teaching from the cradle onwards, that patriotism has reached the pinnacle of fanaticism.

"Of course," added Mr. Wright, "I may have seen only the 'show' factories, just as one sees only the model industrial units in Russia today, but the factories I saw in Japan made me feel that if Japan does nothing else in the realm of commerce, she will at least have the satisfaction of realising that she is forcing the pace, and that, perhaps, will have the effect of making other nations improve their methods of production.

"I didn't see one beggar in Japan," remarked Mr. Wright, "and unemployment was more rare than in any other country that I've been in this year. Japanese factories were working to capacity, and the rationalisation policy would appear to be functioning with almost phenomenal success. It may be the fashion to criticise Japan adversely, but as a Britisher I feel that we are sufficiently efficient to be able to give credit where it is due. I'll conclude with this thought:—IF THE BRITISH EMPIRE HAD AS MANY MILLIONS OF MEN OF DESTINY AS THE JAPANESE EMPIRE, THEN WE WOULD BEAR LESS AND LESS OF OUR CORPORATE LIABILITIES AND MORE AND MORE OF OUR IMPERIAL ASSETS."

CHINESE GENERALS IN COLONY

Following the settlement of the Nanking-Kwangsi dispute, a number of Chinese Generals have been paying visits to the Colony to see the sights before returning to the North.

It is said that General Ching Chin and Chen Sing are at present enjoying the sights in the city and the New Territories and that Generals Ho Kim and Hung Sik-hwee returned to Canton last Thursday night.

It is reported that General Chu Pul-tch departed for Shanghai yesterday by the s.s. President Jackson.

WOULD BE SUICIDE

Tong Hak Kam, aged 21, unemployed, was followed in his attempt to commit suicide yesterday morning about 10.35. He jumped into the Harbour near the Star Ferry Pier but was seen and rescued by Kwok Sang Lo of sampan No. 1035.

The would-be suicide was taken to the Government Civil Hospital where his condition was stated not to be serious.

INQUEST EVIDENCE

"I cannot say whether he stabbed me in the arm or in the back. He withdrew the knife and stabbed me again. He again withdrew the knife and I at once turned over towards my son's door and jumped out of bed. I ran to the passage and reached the servants' quarters where I saw Ah Mui in her room. I shouted and beckoned her and then went back to the bedroom. Before I reached the bed I saw the deceased standing at the verandah window cutting himself."

KNEW DIARY

Witness then said that she laid down on her bed and fainted and when she recovered she was in the hospital.

When His Worship referred to the diary, witness admitted that she knew it.

His Worship: If he had never spoken to you of love, how can his actions be explained? He seems to have been in love with you and very jealous.

Witness: I don't know what his object was.

His Worship: During June or July, he became jealous of you with some other men or man?

Witness: In May and June I always went out in the company of the deceased's family. I have never been in the company of a man alone.

PHOTOGRAPHS PRODUCED.
Photographs were then produced in Court which bore several inscriptions. These were found in the deceased's writing desk at Ming Yuen Terrace.

In explanation witness said that she had taken the negatives to a party given at the deceased's house. She had wanted them enlarged. The deceased had asked for a copy of each picture.

The knife alleged to have been used was then produced by the Police but witness said that she could not recognise it. Another knife of a type used for cutting fruit, was produced and witness said that it did not belong to her. This knife was found in the deceased's coat.

QUESTIONS ABOUT RING.
Mr. Mackinlay produced a ring and in answer to questions witness said that she had never seen the ring before. When it was pointed out to her that her name appeared on the inside of the ring, with the date "16-1-36," witness said that she did not know how her name appeared there.

A cigarette case and a watch and chain were also produced. Witness said that the case was hers and that she had given it to the deceased because he had expressed a liking for it.

She denied having given the ring and watch to the deceased. The enquiry at this stage was adjourned until Monday.

ARMED ROBBERY

Leung San attempted to grasp some sticks which were in the room, and as he moved rapidly the assassin with the revolver carried out his threat and fired at her. Following the blinding flash and ear-splitting report, there came the particularly robust shouting of Leung San. She shouted so well and ran so quickly through the house that the robbers decided to decamp. This they did just in the nick of time, because the police were soon on the scene. Nothing was stolen from the house, and at an early hour this morning the police arrested a Chinese woman whom they allege was in possession of the revolver used by the bandit who fired the shot at Leung San.

When this paper went to press the police were still vigorously prosecuting their investigations, and further arrests are expected to-day.
